Paterson Park
Neighborhood

About the Festival

On June 15-16, join PPS for the 39th Festival of Historic Houses, showcasing homes in the Paterson Park Neighborhood, located in the Blackstone Park Historic District. Paterson Park boasts homes from the turn of the 20th century, reflecting a nationwide appreciation for city planning, and the development of public parks and recreational facilities. The neighborhood was also where the writer H.P. Lovecraft spent the early part of his life.

On Saturday, guests will enjoy self-guided access to lovingly cared-for private homes, buildings and green spaces throughout the neighborhood. Sunday afternoon offers a choice of two different guided walking tours. Come learn more about this tucked-away enclave on Providence's East Side.

Visit ProvidenceHouseTour.com for complete details.

About the Preview Party

Join us the evening of Thursday, June 13, at the 1870 Margarethe Dwight House, a large Second Empire home built for Christopher A. Pierce. In 1883, the property was fully renovated by architectural firm Stone, Carpenter & Willson. The property was purchased by the Lincoln School in 1943 and renamed the Margarethe Dwight House, in honor of the daughter of the school's founder. Guests will enjoy delicious hors d'oeuvres, open bar, and live music. Proceeds benefit PPS and its ongoing advocacy work and preservation education.
